Deep in the ground of the human soul,

Of victory assured,

The Spirit-Sun is living.

All through the winter of the inner life

The faithful heart divines it.

IN THE LIGHT OF A CHILD
A rose of pure white blooms in midnight’s dark hour.
The spell of the darkness is broken and torn.
In my heart there’s a bursting of magical power
For heavenly Child on earth has been born!
He is pure as the snow. With my heart’s love aglow
I shall nourish this Child, and he surely shall grow!

PRIMARY SCHOOL

FROM THE CO-ORDINATOR

On Thursday evening we celebrate our Winter Festival. It always provides food for the soul and is meaningful and memorable. Thank you teachers for working with your classes and together to create what promises to be another very special occasion. Thank you Sarah.

This celebration also weaves into the winding up of our immersion into cultural studies and Nyoongar language lesson this term. Children have excitedly commented that when they walk through the bush and Kings Park now they recognise the trees by name and know some of their properties and stories and that the plaques they read are more meaningful.

The Cultural Studies programme has been well received by children and teachers and closely watched by the Cockburn Council and Local Elders and their various organisations. We have celebrations planned for the last week of term when storytellers, dances and face painters will be here and a bush tucker BBQ is planned. Thank you to Aunty Marie Taylor, Aunty Betty and Aunty Chelsea.

This month is the 40th anniversary of Noonkanbah, a land title issue that was at the centre of public attention in Australia for almost two years, 1979-1980.

Wardong, Class Seven have created a play, dramatizing these events. In an effort to gain an understanding of the Aboriginal connection to land, part one of the play deals with their Indigenous Law through three Dreamtime Stories - Uluru, Witchetty Grub Man and Seven Sisters.

The conflict between the Gadiya’s (white man) attitude to land and the Aboriginal is very different. Class Seven have been learning West Australian history from the Indigenous point of view to grasp a deeper insight.

Areas studied included life before settlers and the strict acknowledgement of land boundaries amongst various mobs without having to use fences or walls. Loss of land and culture through the insistence of Terra Nullius, by Gadiya, through the use of violence, disease and death.

The first Indigenous strike in the Pilbara, led by Dooley Bin Bin, Clancy and Don McLeod was a tremendous piece of history to unearth!

We looked at factors that encouraged the Noonkanbah people to make a stand and not allow their land to be stolen again: The story of the Bunuba warrior, Jandamarra, the Walk Off at Wave Hill and the efforts of Vincent Lingiari, the writing of the Bark Petitions and apology by Gough Whitlam, and the heroic strivings of Eddie Mabo.

With this new knowledge of West Australian history Class Seven embarked on the events at Noonkanbah.

No longer is Aboriginal history a mystery!!

Play Performances:
Tuesday, 26th June at 9:15am and 1:00pm
Wednesday, 27th June at 9:30am and 6:00pm

All are welcome!

Patricia Crook - Class 7 (Wardong) Teacher
WINTER FESTIVAL REMINDER

Dear High School Parents,

Please come to the Magellan (High School Music) room at 6:00pm on the Winter festival night. There will be a meditation for parents while Classes 8-12 enjoy their Festival experience in their class groups. We will then walk the spiral in the Hall and end up at the bonfire with everyone.

Please remember to dress warm, bring a lantern (not phones!) to light the way and a cup and spoon for soup afterwards.

HIGH SCHOOL ASSEMBLIES

Throughout 2018 the High School has been trialling a new format for assemblies. One by one, each class is getting their chance to design and run their own, 50 minute long assembly, containing a mix of information, presentations and entertainment. So far, assemblies have been run by Classes 12, 10, 8B and 8A.

Last Monday was Class 11’s turn to run the show. Being older students their planning was mostly self-directed, with the students breaking themselves into small groups to each create an assembly item that they then ran on the day. They settled on an eclectic mix of acts, including information on the upcoming Winter Festival, a Battle of the Bands, which featured bands from Classes 9, 10 and 12, a selection of talks from students about overseas exchange and Class 12 project introductions, some stretches, a guest talk from Titus giving them insight into some of the history of the school (in light of the 30 years celebrations), and a whole-school sing-a-long. They did an excellent job at holding the audience’s attention and efficiently running their assembly. Well done to Class 11.

One ‘highlight’ of the assembly was their idea of getting the English and Maths teachers to rap about their respective subjects. I doubt that any of the teachers involved would be prepared to repeat their performance, but that have agreed to publish their lyrics for your enjoyment.

Kelly Kranz-Little - Maths

Okay here we go with a mathematics rap
And how can I go wrong with such awesomeness on tap
You think you can live without maths - that may be true.
But without it there are so many cool things you couldn’t do.

Let’s start back in Class 8 with a pretty clever chap,
Plato and his solids put Greek geometry on the map.
Those handy things they figured out back in olden times,
And you learn to do it too - but don’t erase construction lines.

Moving from polyhedra to circles, whaddaya know?
Algebra and geometry, nicely together they go.
Try circumference and divide it by diameter and what do you find?
3.1415926 535 89
Inside circles plenty of right angles we can choose,
And using Pythagoras we can find the hypotenuse.

By Class Eleven we give you a ‘choice’ in what you do,
Maybe Calculus is what makes your heart ring true?
Or perhaps you’d prefer to study mathematical applications,
Learning the share market and matrix operations.

Into Class 9 and oh - the possibilities!
Of choice and of chance, flip a coin - the probabilities,
Or conic sections, find four essential curvy splines,
And draw them all up - but don’t erase construction lines.

By Class 10 you have learned all kinds of cool stuff,
Like Sequences, and Series, and spirally kind of fluff,
Fibonacci in plants and golden rectangles all over the joint,
And interest, and banking, where to profit is the point.

But John! You all say, We wanna do something practical!
And so he says, okay, let’s use our maths all factual,
And spend a week surveying - let’s hope the weather’s fine,
Then draw up a map - but don’t erase construction lines.

By Class Eleven we give you a ‘choice’ in what you do,
Maybe Calculus is what makes your heart ring true?
Or perhaps you’d prefer to study mathematical applications,
Learning the share market and matrix operations.

But don’t fret because there is still the Projective
Geometry main lesson,
Like the icing on the cake in your mathematical progression.
Consider whether parallel lines meet at infinity?
Getting into all kinds of abstract nitty gritty.
Draw it all up accurately and don’t you whine,
Use a sharp pencil - but don’t erase construction lines.

So, you over there with your iambic pentameter,
You think that words are the essential parameter?
Without maths all of your rhythms would just seem absurd,
And how could our Class 12s count to 4000 words?
(cont...)

Pam Moore - English
Shall I compare thee to Shakespeare’s verse?
Thou art too square like the hypotenuse,
Most fractionated and irrational,
And for equations I have not the skill.

Now recite a sonnet of love and light...
Yeah babe, love and light.
Tell me a myth of King Gilgamesh’s plight,
To be or not to be, that’s the question,
Does mathematics give this attention?

This rap’s in iambic pentameter,
More complex than circumference diameter.
Great works of literature shall never fade,
The measured pyramids stand in their shade.

Infinity’s a probability,
But long live words and words give life to me.....
Yeah words give life to me!

(Thanks to Shakespeare and his sonnet “Shall I compare thee to a Summer’s day?” for inspiration.)

John Bluntschli - Maths
Lines that go, on and on and on.
Now where they all comin from, from, from?

You want to know where maths and rap can meet?
Now I’m not talking bout here or in the street.

Know dat hood, they call In-fin-it-y?
That’s the place that, I can hardly see.

Maths debate.
Now marinate.

Parallel lines looking real fine.

Can’t make them meet
on the sheet?

But if you could you know you should.

Cos in this joint you get the point.

CLASS 12 PROJECTS
For my Class 12 Project I am asking the question “How does social media affect our mental health through sleep deprivation, cyber-bullying and depression?” I have found this topic to be quite confronting and disturbing because as a teenager social media and technology is a huge part of my life and those around me. My research has led me to make some changes in my own life - but it is not easy.

For my Project Practical I have created a blog and a Facebook page for parents to engage and as a useful resource hoping to raise awareness of these issues. Please go to:
https://rosalie_lane0.wixsite.com/media_and_mental_health
https://www.facebook.com/Social-media-and-mental-health1600037403394792/

I am also planning to hold a showing of the documentary called ‘Screenagers’, an American film about a parent’s investigation into the use of smartphones, in Williams Hall on Friday, 3rd August. It will be $10 per presale ticket and $15 to purchase a ticket at the door.

Tickets are being sold online via: https://www.trybooking.com/WMLY
To see the trailer for this film please go to: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=LQx2X0BxZg

These issues are really impacting all our lives. Please visit these links for more information and to help me with my Project Practical!

Thank you, ROSALIE LANE.

Thank you to all who have donated funds to my gofundme account to raise money for Headspace.

For my Class 12 Project I am researching depression and young people and as part of my Practical I will be undertaking a 2,200 km bike ride to raise money and awareness for this important issue. Please, if you are able and have not already, go to:
https://www.gofundme.com/depression-in-youth-ride

I am off on this ride in the upcoming school holidays so wish me luck. I will keep you posted as to how it went next term.

Thank you so much for your support, THEO BERTUCCI.
