TERM 3, Week 5

Tuesday, 21st August, 2018

OPEN DAY
This Saturday we celebrate our curriculum and our school at the Open Day and Spring Fair. All students are expected to attend. Monday is a holiday in lieu. We welcome our own community and people interested in our school with an open gesture. We have much to share and can be proud of the children, parents and staff who make this day each year such a joy. Behind the scenes much work has been done in preparation by many good people. We thank them all.

CLASS PLAY
Thursday and Friday last week, Class 8A performed Shakespeare’s A Midsummer Night’s Dream. It was dramatic, funny and so very entertaining. There is no doubt that the students had an inspiring and challenging four week Main Lesson. They certainly all rose to the occasion when it was time to perform for us. Well done Donna, Jo, Claire and your team of extraordinary drama sages. Class 8 you did yourselves proud. Thank you for your performances.

STAFF DEVELOPMENT
On Monday, the whole school staff had a Staff Development Day and had the privilege of having Bodo von Plato and Constanza Kaliks with us. Bodo and Constanza work at the Guthenam and are deeply involved with Anthroposophy. They reminded us that we work and teach in a very beautiful school and that our children are fortunate to spend their days in such surroundings and with such dedicated teachers. Their message was inspirational. One of the many thought provoking themes was about working collegially; with each other, with the children, with parents and with society in general. That cannot truly be done with authenticity unless we ‘see’ ‘meet’ and ‘love’ the other without judgement and as an individual.

Questions were posed to consider, for instance, ‘How would the world be in 2030 if what lives in me today became real’ and ‘what is the next step for me to take to get there and create it as reality?’ That is certainly a bigger picture to work with than cognitively creating a 12 year plan! We spoke about the importance of truly being present and to consider that concept in relation to us working with two streams of time - the past knowledge that we know and bring with the future potential and shaping coming to us with the students of the future. As teachers, perhaps our task is to provide orientation to the children who will navigate the future.

The staff had a full day of work but the opportunity to all be together and share lunch and spend time socially weaves a strong thread of collegiality.

STEINER EDUCATION AUSTRALIA (SEA)
At a SEA conference in NSW on the weekend, it was pointed out that worldwide there is a strong push away from a narrow view of academic success to a broader approach that ensures education is about developing people who will be positive change agents and have an impact on the world. Creative and critical thinking being the cornerstone of such an approach. Our K-12 Curriculum is well suited to that broad focus. We often find that when our graduates enter universities or the workplace they are well positioned to make an impact critically and creatively.

IN THE LIGHT OF A CHILD
Bright the sun’s gold rays are streaming;
Streaming fills my soul with light.
Light becomes a sword of radiance,
Radiance flashing in dark night.
Night is banished. See Love’s sun-rise,
Love’s Sun rising, warm and bright.

WANTED!

A real pine/conifer tree (Christmas tree) in a pot is needed for the teachers Paradise Play next week. If you have one that we could borrow please contact Sarah on 0414 827 787. Thank you!

STAFF FEATURE

This will be a regular section giving you some background information on our amazing teachers, co-ordinators, administration staff, etc. Our school's strength comes from the diversity of the people dedicated to enriching our children's lives.

LISA BASTIAN - Class One Teacher

As a young adult I remember reading the 'Principles of Education' adapted from Chapman and Counts (1924), on a child-centred approach to learning. I felt a mix of sadness and indignation, but predominantly felt challenged by this injustice. Why wasn’t I a recipient of such an educational approach? How can we steer the changes towards these most important principles? Finally, at this school, I feel that I am working within a system that upholds and values these same principles. In more ways than one I feel as if I am coming home.

Although I have worked in many different fields throughout my life, I feel that my Art Therapy background has provided me with a rich palette of experience that marries beautifully with the Steiner curriculum. Both professions - Education and Art Therapy - delve deeply into the powerful transformative medium of the arts to help enrich and enliven an individual’s soul.

In 2010 our daughter started playgroup at the Silvertree Steiner School. We spent four years within this wonderful community, where I completed various training modules and courses in Steiner education. It was during these years that the seeds of education where planted more firmly within me, and from there I completed my training in Education. Our family decided to embark on a sea change adventure to Yanchep where I worked in the mainstream system with Kindy to Year 3 children.

My hobbies and interests include music (piano and guitar), sculpture, reiki, meditation, beach time with my beautiful children, Art Therapy and walking our dog around the beautiful Bibra Lake.

EARLY CHILDHOOD

★ HAPPY BIRTHDAY BRONWYN! ★

Bronwyn Maddock has a special birthday this week, and we want to acknowledge this milestone, along with Bronwyn's fine choice to devote so many of her years in service to our school. She is a well loved teacher, with so many of our students, from Class One to Class Twelve, past and present, having a warm place in their hearts for her as their shining kindergarten teacher.

Bronwyn brings grace wisdom and joy to the classroom, and continues to inspire her colleagues with her ideas and knowledge.

Many happy returns of the day, Bronwyn, with all the love in the world.
Primary School

Class 5 Botany Excursion

The Class Fives have been studying botany as the rain and strengthening light bring spring to our bush. Our school grounds provide so many opportunities to observe and investigate native plant life. Just outside our classroom window is a healthy specimen of the ancient cycads that is bearing fruiting cones; there’s a sheaak with long rust coloured catkins of pollen; a banksia with a wedge-leafed seedling nearby; and fungi and lichen on many damp branches.

The sequence of plant development in just one patch - from wind pollinated, naked seed plants to the flowering plants.

One of the students found a delicate bird orchid nearby and we are watching a patch of single narrow leaves appearing amongst casuarina leaf litter. Drawing the orchid we marvelled at the three fused petals creating a hood and the flickering labellum; indistinct colours, hidden stamen; not bee-attracting then.

We began botany out spotting the many Marri seedlings near the Adventure playground. Trees just beginning life with the characteristic rounded cotyledon leaves close to the ground, where cockatoos had sprayed seeds by ripping into the soft green gumnuts before they hardened in last summer’s sun. Examples of inter-relating bird-insect-plant life arise often in our garden forays.

Drawing is discovery in botany, with many plant patterns and forms being observed closely through the artistic process. This was so apparent too when we visited Philippa Nikulinsky’s art studio on the way to Kings Park last week. Philippa is a highly regarded botanical artist who, for many years, has been creating fine drawings and books on West Australian plants. These are the result of months-long field trips to the Kimberleys, Pilbara, Cape Arid and all regions in-between. While we explored the treasure-trove of her bush collections - feathers, butterfly wings, dried sea dragons, jewel beetles, an echidna skin, stuffed birds - Philippa generously shared her current art work and described her artistic processes.

We were in awe when she unrolled a seven-metre 'story scroll' depicting water coloured drawings of grass-tree heathland - trees growing, maturing, burnt by fire, re-shooting and thriving once more. Another piece we loved showed flocks of hundreds of budgerigars flying down to drink at a water hole and flying off again. There is such fine detail in this two-metre drawing, as there is in the life-sized flowering eucalyptus branch. Even Philippa’s "rough sketches" from the field are glorious! The quality of Philippa’s art is testament to the months of work given to each drawing, and the devotion she has towards it.

Enriched by wonderful botanical art, the class spent the rest of the day drawing flowering plants in Kings Park. There was much to enjoy; swathes of everlastings, banksias, hakeas, kangaroo paws, unusual honeysuckles, many with companion bees and honeyeaters hovering overhead.

It was a wonderful day with plants and art, and we look forward to Philippa’s next exhibition at the Lawrence Wilson Art Gallery, this time next year.

Val Ashman - Class 5 Teacher
As part of my Class 9 project I am seeking donations to make a difference in the lives of struggling asylum seeker families. In particular I am collecting art supplies such as crayons, coloured pencils and sketch books. Please leave donations in the box outside the front office.

Thank you,
Genevieve - Class 9.

HIGH SCHOOL MUSIC NIGHT
What a wonderful evening of music and a full house! Claire Williams, music tutors and high school students all worked with dedication to present an evening of amazing talent. There were bands, duets and solo pieces, some with vocals and some instrumental. It really was a feast for the ears and all was managed seamlessly. A heartfelt thank you to everyone involved - Claire, music tutors, assistants on the night and parents!

The Complete Leader
Leading with wisdom, compassion and integrity
A foundation course in leadership

The workshop will take place in Perth over 3 days (8.30 – 4.00 each day) from 22 – 24 September 2018
Cost per person, including GST: $ 660
Teas will be provided; Participants provide their own lunches.

This workshop is a condensed version of the 12 day program run over a year, for leaders, administrators, board members and parents of Steiner schools. It is aimed at developing a culture of broad-based leadership, initiative-taking and collaboration in schools. The workshop includes a lively mix of interactive exercises and experiences, dialogue and conversation, the use of artistic media, input of appropriate concepts, review and evaluation, and personal integration of the learning. Topics covered include:

New leadership perspectives: Understanding the difference between leading and managing; How leadership has evolved over time; Emerging concepts of leadership; Enabling people to discover their karmic and developmental challenges; and to give expression to their will, out of their own ‘ethical individualism’; The planetary model as a tool for understanding and working with leadership, management and group dynamics.

Building co-operation and collaboration across the organisation: Understanding social and anti-social forces; Building interpersonal skills; Working creatively with group dynamics; Facilitating healthy dialogue and valuing diversity; Building co-operation and alignment across groups to transform adversarial relationships.

Building a resilient organisation. Organisation diagnosis; How organisations develop; Creating a culture of co-operation and trust, which fosters open communication, constructive feedback and the healthy exchange of perceptions, insights and ideas; Leading change and managing transitions.

The inner path of the leader: Understanding your current phase of life and your questions and challenges regarding leadership; Growing your confidence, assertiveness and personal power; Building emotional intelligence; Facing personal transitions and crossing thresholds; Charting your personal leadership path.

The workshop is facilitated by David Liknitzky, who has 30 years’ experience as an independent organisation development consultant, based on an anthroposophical foundation. He lives in Melbourne, and runs spiritatwork (www.spiritatwork.com.au), a consultancy that empowers and coaches leaders to think creatively and strategically about leadership, and to build ethical and collaborative workplaces in which people can bring their whole selves to work and meaningfully take initiatives and make contributions that matter to them.

David’s children all attended Steiner schools, and he has had a long-standing involvement with the Steiner school movement, working with many schools around Australia and in other parts of the world, as well as other anthroposophical initiatives.

He has also consulted extensively to commercial and industrial organisations, and founded a not-for-profit youth development organisation, the Youth Empowerment Network.

David’s education and qualifications include a Master of Arts in Professional and Applied Ethics and he is currently undertaking research in trust-based leadership towards a PhD at the University of Melbourne. He is a Professional Support Panel Member of Steiner Education Australia, a Fellow of Ashoka: Innovators for the Public, and a member of Australasian Facilitators’ Network.

Labels for Baked Goodies on Open Day

These labels are a requirement from the Department of Health for parents baking and donating cakes, muffins, biscuits etc. for Open Day.

Please complete labels below with all ingredients used, cut out and attach to the donated goods. Ensure you include: flour, shortening, eggs and nuts. Don’t forget to label your plates, dishes etc and collect them at the end of the day.

Your cakes may be dropped off at the Canteen on the day.

If you have any questions regarding food on the day please contact Gabby on 0439 919 926.

Thank you!
